The time is now but the memories are forever.
CWMTSBJHRT Thank for the good times. (Joe, Kid, Kev, David, Tracy) Mom and Dad, "Pollock" I.L.Y. all. Fred, you're special.

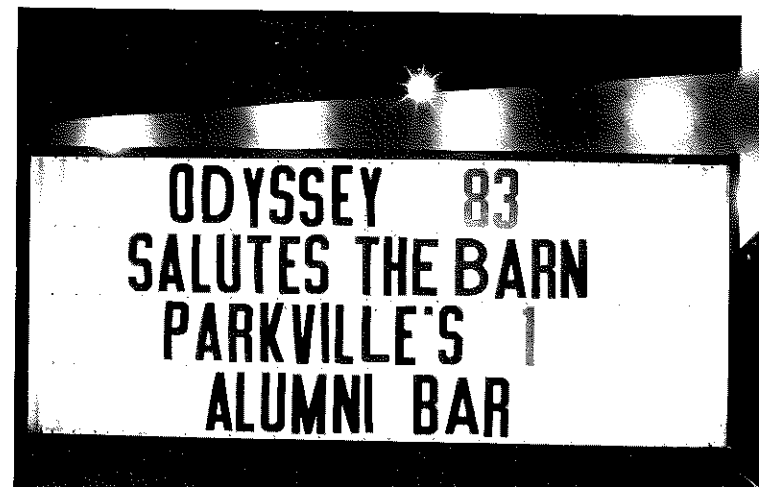

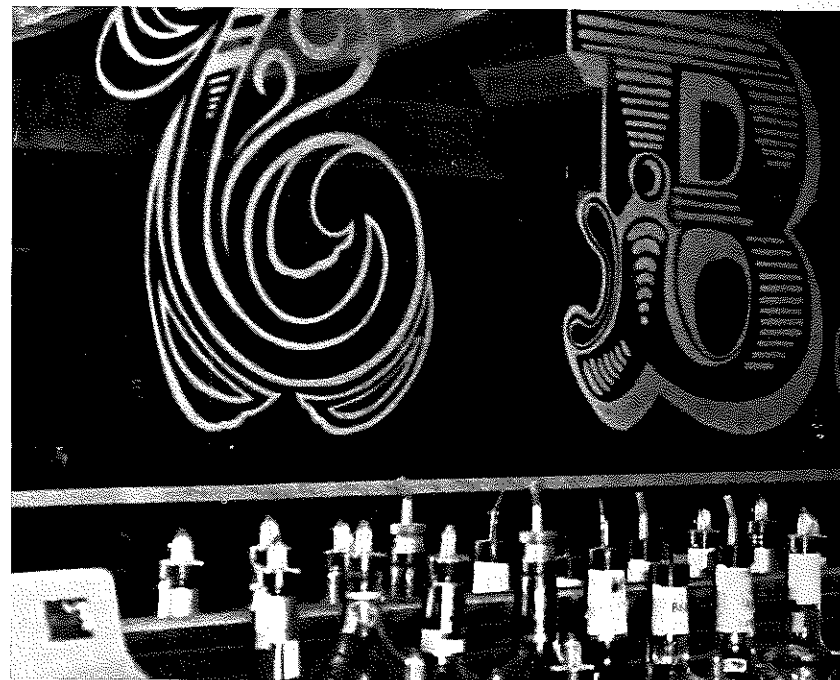

Now that seniors can no longer go to bars legally because of the change in Maryland's drinking law, choosing a favorite bar is no longer really a concern. Rumor has it that occasionally a Parkville senior can still get into some local bars but we could find few people willing to talk about this for the record.

Our choice as the most popular meeting ground of local watering holes is The Barn, located at Harford and Joppa Roads. Accounting for The Barn's popularity is that it is the home base for many Parkville alumni. On any given night you can find over half the patrons from a recent Parkville graduating class. A rustic atmosphere coupled with a large screen TV and an abundance of video games coupled with low prices account for its attractiveness to younger patrons. Other popular places with Parkville alumni include Spirits, The Bowman, and Hooligans.

As far as the worst our favorite comment was by a senior, who wished to remain anonymous, who told us "Wargo's stud bar doesn't rate too high!"

The Barn announced to all of Parkville that it had been selected by Odyssey as the area's best alumni bar.

Parkville Senior graduates toast their old high school amidst the Barn's well stocked bar and western style interior.
